

Laurie's Testimony

I wasn't raised in the church but I knew a lot about God, Jesus, Heaven and Hell. Please notice I said knew and not know, big difference! As I searched to fill the emptiness inside me, through so many trials and errors, every boulder I struggled to climb alone to only find another heartache on the other side. I still felt unloved, full of guilt and unworthy. I cried for years begging God's forgiveness, but not willing to change my ways. About seven years ago my sister passed away. She was not just my sister...she was my best friend. That was the first time I truly thought about Heaven, Hell, and God. My sister went away on December 10, 2014 and that is when I started wondering where she was. In January 2015, that's when I found myself at a fork in the road in my life. I could either continue down the wide road of emptiness or turn down the narrow winding road to my Lord. I noticed the boulders turned into pedals The emptiness turned into joy and for the first time in my life I knew I am loved unconditionally by Jesus. I found so much peace and joy in the Lord who is now my Lord, my love, my life! I am no longer full of guilt nor do I battle my demons. I'm free! Praise God.. I am free!
